The Troubles of a Marquis.

Troubles are growing up for Lorne, and as they grow the Marquis grows more forlorn. His light was very brilliant at the outset, but slights, and snubs, and gentle reminders are gradually extinguishing it. His ancient lineage, his Captaincy of the London-Scottish Volunteers, his authorship of a single, solitary, and somewhat sorrowful book, his oratory, his services in Parliament and the Indian Office, and the learned labors of his father, the Duke, alike seem to have been powerless in saving the Marquis from constant rebuke for his temerity in overstepping the bounds of his social circle; nor does the succession of these rebukes from equerries and goldsticks seem to teach him his position. Although located, beyond all hope of change, in the second rank, he is continually making desperate leaps to the first, and is left hanging and dangling for the fun of gods and men. His first slight was at a party on the grounds of Buckingham Palace, where he attempted to enter the tent of royalty, and was met at the door by a pompous equerry with the peremptory message forbidding him to enter. There was no first tent for the Marquis of Lorne. The equerry's message was an intimation to him he must always be in the second tense. This was a settler for the Marquis at home. Perhaps, however, brighter stars might shine upon him abroad. One fine morning, the Marquis took his wife and carpet-bag and ran over to Berlin to call upon sister Victoria at the testy Kaiser's Court, where there are three circles, the first of which surrounds blood royal, the second the nobility, and the third literary men, students, butchers, beer-sellers, old women, ministers, show-men, and other small miscellaneous truck. The Marquis, with hopeful heart, sought to enter the blue-blooded circle, where his wife and sister-in-law sat, but was met by the official Nemesis with the announcement that he must step down and out into the Zweite Stagfel. Mrs. Lorne protested and the sister-in-law begged and interceded, but all in vain, and once more the Marquis of Lorne's light went out and he buried his sorrows in a tankard of beer. Again—and this time upon his native heath, in the home of his ancestors—the iron entered his soul. The Princess herself desired that when she went to the paternal fireside of all the Lornes she should be recognized as the Marchioness, but when they drove up the grounds, behold the venerable paterfamilias smiling at the door and calling out to the assembled tenantry to give three cheers "for my daughter, the Princess," and the Marquis' brother making familiar allusions to the Queen as "Lorne's mother-in-law."

By such slights as these the Marquis of Lorne has found his definite position with relation to the Princess. He may hand my lady to her carriage, but he may not ride in it, if it happen to be a state carriage. He may take her to the door and leave her with the usher and go where he pleases, except inside that door. At the state dinner, he may sit at the foot of the table. Such is the penalty of marrying into the royal family, above your rank—tail of the family, butt of equerries and chamberlains, second fiddle to feminine flummery and royal rank. There is but one resource left. Let him take the lovely Princess and come to the United States, and settle down in Chicago. Here are no class privileges, no distinctions of rank, no nonsense. Here every man has the right to go where his wife goes, and every woman the right to go where her husband goes, except to the Lodge. Man and wife are one in privilege and pocket-book, sit at the same table, put their dimes in the same contribution-box, stand upon the same footing, and have night-keys alike. What is good enough for the wife is good enough for the husband, and vice versa. Instead of being a whipper-snapper for Princes, a door-opener for Princesses, a flunkey for royalty, he would be every whit as top-lofty as the Princess, would be lord of the household, and play second fiddle to nobody. This, we take it, is better than having a British Queen for a mother-in-law, and eating her leavings, or a Prince for a brother-in-law, and sitting in the pit while he lolls in the boxes. —Tribune.

Barbarous.

A dyspeptic wag, who shaves on Heneracker street (three tickets for a quarter) describes his barber as follows:

"He is always in a state of perspiration and is greasy; he wears a paper collar; his fingers are pudgy and his nails are in mourning, evidently for some near relation; he snips and snips away, pinching your ears, nipping your eyelashes and your jaw until you think he must have cut enough hair to fill a mattress. He always says, 'Shampoo, sir?' to which you say, 'No;' and he says, 'Eh, sir!' to which you reply, 'No,' two octaves higher. 'Head's very dirty, sah;' to which, if you have experience, you respond, 'I always have it so,' and cut off further debate. But he has his revenge. He draws his fingers in a pot of axle grease, scented with musk and age, and before you can divine his fearful intent, smears it all over your head and rubs it until you look like an animated gun-swab. Then he showers weak bay rum down your back and over your shirt, ingeniously arranges your locks in a way that would make Socrates look like a thunder-blasted idiot, and collects his stipend with an air of virtuous condescension. As you put your hat on you are assaulted by a small boy with a large brush, who punches you in the abdomen with the straw end, raps your ribs with the handle, and conducts his movements with such masterly strategy that you must fall over him or pitiably bribe him with ten cents to let you out. Now we wish it distinctly understood that our tonsorial artist has no perfumery except the 'attar of roses' and 'bergamot,' and never uses either cod liver oil or eel grease.—Richmond Whig.

Jackson and Sheridan.

When General Jackson assumed the defense of New Orleans he put the city under martial law. Nor did he relax any of its severity after his great victory over the British. He received the news of the treaty of peace between the two countries, but for prudential reasons continued the martial law. He arrested a private citizen and held him under military authority. Judge Hall issued a writ of habeas corpus, but Jackson not only refused to recognize it but sent a guard of soldiers to escort the Judge outside the city limits. A few days after civil authority was restored Judge Hall returned, and summoned General Jackson before him to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt, etc. First, in his arrest of a private citizen; second, in his refusal to recognize the writ issued; third, in his unlawful expulsion of the Judge. Jackson claimed that all his acts were founded on public necessity. His defence was not sufficient for the Judge, who was trying his own case. He was fined $1,000 which he promptly paid out of his own pocket. Years after the payment, the fine was remitted by Congress on the ground that Gen. Jackson acted in the interest of the public good and for the public safety. The Democrats, who now denounce Gen. Sheridan for doing less than Jackson did, should remember that every stone cast at him is one thrown at the hero of New Orleans, one of the patron saints of Democracy. Sheridan, like Jackson, has the firmness to do his duty, and the enemies of law and order in Louisiana would do well to recognize this trait in his character before they feel its hand.

Carbogen, a New Gas.

Allow me to inform your readers relative to a new discovery in our midst, to be henceforth known as carbogen, recently brought to light by a practical chemist of this city. It is well known that the gas distilled from either coal, wood or petroleum, is deficient in something which is generally supposed to be carbon, in order to render it of high illuminating power. A series of chemical experiments have demonstrated that the deficiency is carbogen, which can be readily and cheaply prepared, and by its addition to any of the illuminating gases, the luminosity is increased about double. For instance, a gas-burner that is equivalent to seventeen candles per hour, by the addition of carbogen, is rendered equal to thirty-three candles per hour, saving one-half the present expense of gas. In the future, our illuminating gas will not be hydro-carbon, but carbogen-hydro. I am informed that an exhibition of this new gas will shortly be made before the Academy of Sciences.—*Com. REMOVAL

The Office of the TRIBUNE has been removed to 911 Broadway, between Eighth and Ninth Streets, over Bowman's drug store

We presume that the Central Pacific people never thought of establishing their rolling mills and the like great works otherwise than in Oakland, else the enterprising business men and promoters of property improvements on this side of the bay would have been lately "chawing" the ears of Gov Stanford by means of delegations, day and night Don t all speak at once

"Carbogen" is the name of a new discovery for the better use of coal gas There is so much complaint in the different large cities of the Union, as well as in the smaller ones, of the cost of corporation gas that the wits of inventors are at work to improve the condition of things We publish an item to-day from a Chicago paper giving a slight hint as to what may be done to the end prayed for by all.

It seems to be no longer a matter of speculation—that opposition line of China steamers, in connection with the overland railroads Three of the White Star line's vessels are reported purchased for the purpose of starting operations It has always seemed ridiculous to suppose that the overland roads would not make a most determined effort to control the through trade from Japan and China—own and run the steamers connecting just as well as the ferry boats plying between San Francisco and Oakland

The Arizona Miner, published at Prescott has been sold to F J Butler Esq brother of J S of the firm of Butler & Stillwell, printers, Oakland The retiring editor pays Mr B this sort of compliment "a gentleman a scholar, an honorable man, and the best whittler on the Pacific Coast One thing sure Butler will not whittle out so many sensations, half-truths and absolute lies as the Miner has been guilty of as a rule In short, he won t do anything of the kind, unless by mere accident The people of Arizona are to be doubly congratulated in this change

There has been a good deal of figuring up and biography writing since the late elections for U S Senatorship We have all sorts of fine promises of "reform" because of the Democratic victories of last fall, filling the two houses of Congress with ex-rebel generals and northern sympathizers The following item for a change is too good to be lost —in time, perhaps, there will more come to the surface of the same sort.

William A Wallace the Democratic Senator from Pennsylvania is known in that State as "Coffee-pot Wallace" He acquired this sobriquet some years ago when as Chairman of the Democratic Central Committee he sent fraudulent naturalization papers to be used by the Democrats in a certain locality with directions that they be steeped in a coffee pot before being exhibited so that they might have the appearance of age and genuineness

This is too bad The California editors have been going for that $100 000—howling themselves hoarse because they had failed either to get any of it or trace it to its real destination Now it appears that, what is worse than all, they were not considered worth returning as an aid to the Washington lobby Here is a dispatch that the Associated Press man drags in by the ears, and probably it is true, but how sad

Washington Feb 8th —Richard F Irwin in his testimony some weeks ago before the Ways and Means Committee accounted for the one hundred and odd thousand dollars he took to California as follows He sent [illegible] 000 back to John G Schumaker in Brooklyn and with the exception of some small sums which he also remitted East he kept the balance about $5 000 for his own fee He did not disburse any portion of it whatever in California

A LETTER FROM FRED DOUGLASS

Washington, Feb 8th —The National Republican this morning publishes a long letter from Fred Douglass, explaining the meaning and intent of the address to Congress recently issued by the leading colored citizens The letter concludes as follows

Now Mr Editor [illegible] the language of the [illegible] is not stronger [illegible] What has been seen during the [illegible] thousands of people [illegible] thousands escaping from Georgia [illegible] Mississippi [illegible] sentiment abroad in the South [illegible] expressed by ruffian tongues that it is not [illegible] harm to shoot a negro than to shoot a [illegible] shot down in the streets of New Orleans 100 in Coushatta fifty in Grant parish fifty in Vicksburg and not a single murderer punished In view of such a state of facts the words of the resolutions are almost contemptible and heartless [illegible] negro is [illegible] a very may have made him [illegible] because he is a man [illegible]

[illegible] New York [illegible] Faneuil Hall and Cooper Institute I think it strange that while Kuklux and White Leaguers have been [illegible] house [illegible] New Orleans [illegible] word of pity for the [illegible] rebuke for their murderers [illegible] Sheridan [illegible] [illegible] the future [illegible] feel the inspiration [illegible] [illegible] husband [illegible] The loyalty [illegible] they may be [illegible] when the time comes [illegible] this Government shall be left to the [illegible] loyalty [illegible] at the South to require [illegible]

FARTHER DEPOT IMPROVEMENT

The subject of the new passenger depot on Seventh street near Broadway suggests an important improvement in that connection The new structure is about midway of the block and its depth in the direction of Eighth street places access to it from that side of rather easy accomplishment If the Eighth street property owners desire to increase the value of their houses and lands at a comparatively small expense, they can do so by breaking a way through from the north and otherwise improve the opening so as to make the block a permanent and much more important business center, as well as add to the convenience and comfort of passengers wonderfully The advantage of an entrance to the depot, free from the noise and dust of the trains and more or less relief from the rush incident to the scene, can hardly be over estimated An exit in this way would be equally advantageous It would be better for the business of those people already established on Seventh street It would remove many of the disagreeable features of the situation, by breaking up the rush By enlarging and improving the avenues of ingress and egress trade would be created and held that is now driven away

It certainly looks reasonable that a business front could be created on the south side of Eighth street in the above manner The passage through to the depot could be converted into a series of fancy stores, booths, or what not, as the improvement might suggest to those who have the power to effect the change It could be lighted from the sky and rendered a pleasant shelter from wind rain, dust, etc We hope to see the scheme put through

THE GREAT GAS MONOPOLY

While cities and towns are discussing the subject of cheaper light and water, there is another monopoly that [illegible] not get that attention from the thoroughly good and professionally independent press of the country to which it is entitled San Francisco is in perpetual misery and peril as to the future of the city on the score of gas and water The root roots of the respective monopolies are entwining round and through and up into every household and the end is not yet the works mains pipes etc grow bigger and more ramifying all the same

Yesterday we published a list of papers that have grown rich and dictatorial through what is called the Associated Press influence Here is the list which would be incomplete without the three Pacific Coast anti Republican machines—the Union, Bulletin and Call

The President of the Association is a Democrat, as is a majority of its Executive Committee We do not claim that the Western Union Telegraph Company are governed by political motives except as their wires are monopolized by this Association which can color its news to suit the aims of the newspapers directly concerned The Western Union is just finishing up a building in New York that will cost two and one half millions of dollars The ramifications of this powerful concern are like the spread of the banyan tree of India It prevents proper postal legislation in Congress it manufactures public opinion North and South East and West it is a great lever used to cry down other monopolies while being a greater and more exacting one than all others itself Its own newspaper feeders and those that have fattened upon it are under its ban they are cringing cowards, greedy and unsatisfied as swine, yet preaching purity and styling themselves the only press of the country that is truly independent and trustworthy But the reader can draw his own conclusions

LIVERMORE COLLEGE

Among the many excellent schools in this county one of the most excellent and promising is the Collegiate Institute at Livermore which was opened on the 6th of January, by T D Smith formerly of the Washington College, near Centreville The collegiate building is very pleasantly located within one half mile of the Livermore depot and has accommodations for some thirty boarders It is organized as follows The Principal T D Smith, has charge of the Academic department Prof C W Anthony has charge of the classes Mrs Smith wife of the Principal has the Art Department The Primary Department is presided over by Miss H Hammond a young lady who graduated at the State Normal School with the highest honors and came to the school with the most satisfactory references, and with the most flattering recommendations from the Principal of the Normal School Mr Smith is too favorably known as a first class teacher to need great commendations from us His wife is also widely known as a most accomplished artist in drawing painting and in music Professor Anthony is well known as a thorough master of the classics and well known as a successful teacher of them We hear most flattering accounts from the school and that although but two months organized it is already nearly filled to its full capacity to accommodate pupils and its success is fully assured

'TRIBUNE' IMPROVEMENT

The paper is not yet one year old but it is already out of its long clothes is on its own feet and getting stronger every day Our move out on to Broadway has been mentioned but the change has involved considerable delay in getting round with the promised additions to the typographical appearance of the paper as well as more advantageous conditions The new general head may add to the look but we do not necessarily count upon it as an advantage otherwise The new type however which begins to crop out to-day will make a vast difference all round It is of much smaller size than that heretofore used but containing full as clear and readable face It will enable us to furnish full a third more matter than heretofore and render the Tribune really the largest paper in Oakland, as its prosperity first and last seems to prove that it is every way the best The paper will continue to improve every day as from the beginning when no bigger than a man s hand The reason of this is, that it was founded on the correct basis—free from all entangling alliances whatever

FOR BOARD OF EDUCATION

Ed Tribune You yesterday had considerable to say concerning Board of Education matters, with nearly all of which I fully agree Especially do I agree with you in regard to the necessity of having our best citizens for members of that body and the error of leaving their selection till everything else is done In this spirit I would name as one of the best selections that could possibly be made L Hamilton if he can be prevailed on to serve He was once on the Board and was President making one of the best officers the city ever had Of course the position will be a tax on his time which must be very fully occupied already but in view of the interests at stake I know it is the desire of many of the best friends of the schools that he should serve once more From the cosmopolitan character of our community and schools it seems to me eminently appropriate that we should have one of our German fellow citizens also on the Board, and I would name Herman Cordes as a person who would in every way satisfactorily fill the position of School Director

Yours,

THE ELECTION

Mr Editor Permit me, as one of those who in view of the successful administration of the city s affairs during the last year feels anxious that no possible element of discord shall be introduced that shall in the slightest degree jeopardize the success of the ticket to be nominated by the Republican Convention, to express through your columns my earnest hope that the Committee will to-night refuse to depart from the customs of the party and in fact, of all parties by refusing to call a primary and allowing the people to choose their own delegates to their own Convention If they shall adopt any other course they will lay themselves liable to the charge (innocently I am sure and yet inevitably) of having axes to grind and thus endanger the success of that which they were selected to hold in trust and administer for their fellow

REDUCTION IN GAS.

Important to Landlords and Gas Consumers.

SAFETY AND ECONOMY.

Office Oakland Gaslight Co , February 1 1875

IN PURSUANCE OF THE POLICY FOLlowed by the Company since its formation viz to lower its rates as rapidly as is warranted by the growth of the city, the price of gas will be reduced on the

1st Day of March Next

—TO—

$4 25 PER 1,000 CUBIC FEET.

Considering the value of coal and labor the limited use of gas and the distance between the places of consumption,

Oakland will be the most cheaply lighted city in the Union

This price will leave no valid excuse for the use of any illuminant but Coal Gas along the lines of the Company s mains a large part of which are now and have been since they were laid, unproductive of income

The advantages to be reaped by the public from Cheap Gas are—

1st —A daily saving in the cost of one of the necessaries of life

2d – A decrease in the number of destructive fires caused by the use of the volatile distillates of Petroleum.

3d —A saving of human life by substituting stationary lights for brittle lamps

4th —The most convenient and safest light brought within the means of the most economical household

However small the house, the economy will be great If insured the rate of premium will be lessened, if not insured, the risk of loss will be decreased

This reduction can only be profitable to the Company, by the accession of a sufficient number of new consumers to compensate for the lessening of its current receipts and it will become the interest of all consumers of gas, to induce their neighbors to adopt this light in order that further reductions may be made in the future

The attention of consumers is also directed to the use of gas for heating and cooking In Europe and the Eastern cities it has been adopted to a great extent, and its use is constantly extending

It is to be hoped that this movement will be accepted in the spirit which has inspired it, and which has always characterized the Company viz

That the Interests of Consumers and the Company are Identical.

The Company are constantly advised of all changes in modes of manufacture and distribution, and will at all times avail itself of every real improvements which tend to improve quality and lessen price

REMOVAL.

The Office of the TRIBUNE has been removed to 911 Broadway, between Eighth and Ninth Streets, over Bowman's drug store.

The Street Sprinkler
Would be a welcome object on Broadway just now.

Gas Pipes
Are about to be placed on Thirteenth street from Broadway to Jefferson.

Brayton Hall
Will soon fall under the hammer. The question now is, what are we going to do for a hall.

The Second.
Rev. O. Gibson will deliver the second lecture of the course in aid of the building fund of the M. E. Church on Friday evening next.

Improving.
Mr. P. H. Sumner, who came near making his exit from this vale of tears, is now living in Brooklyn, N. Y., and has nearly recovered his health.

No Interruption.
The business of W. D. Lorman will suffer no interruption on account of his death. It will hereafter be conducted under the supervision of his wife.

A Profitable Dog
A gentleman of this city has got a most profitable dog. He has sold it nine times, and he invariably finds it waiting [illegible] at his front door when he gets home.

Delicious Day.
We have an excellent memory, but we can't remember a day more beautiful than to-day. Old Sol is scattering his cordial rays with a temperateness unequaled in the [illegible] history.

A Canine Thief.
A young lady pupil of the High School yesterday had her reticule snatched from her hand by a huge dog, who made off with it with the speed of an antelope. Wonder if that dog hasn't been trained.

Wrong Side of the Street.
Mr. J. W. Morris' grocery store is located on the wrong side of Broadway, between Third and Fourth streets, where the best of groceries, wines, liquors and cigars can always be had. Goods delivered free.

Malicious Wretches.
Some contemptibly inclined rascals have punched holes through a quantity of lead pipe standing in front of Mr. John Spencer's store on Seventh street. They should meet with the punishment they deserve.

A Large Man.
The population of Oakland has been increased by a gentleman from Michigan, Col. Thomas Weller, who is so very fleshy he cannot get up a pair of stairs. He has bought a small cottage on Myrtle street, and will devote the remainder of his life sitting on the veranda. His weight is 3?3 pounds.

An Irate Feminine.
A lady this morning wanted to take the 10 [illegible] train to the city. She got to the depot at 10.5. The suave telegraph operator informed her she would have to wait an hour. The pent up indignation that was paroxysmally evolved from that agitated female frame can better be imagined than described.

A New Game.
A new game has been introduced in this city called "aces." The manner of playing is to place a pack of cards upon the table face down, the ladies and gents in turn drawing a card. The one drawing an ace is required to kiss the members of the opposite sex. At present it is impossible to say which is the better pleased, the ladies or gents.

Tea or Coffee?
A Frisco Custom house officer, rather green in his tastes, stepped into a restaurant on Broadway this morning to get his breakfast. After the waiter had deposited the edibles on the table, the officer tasted the coffee and then inquired of the waiter if he had been helped to tea or coffee. "Why do you ask?" said the hero of the napkin, "don't you see it before you?" "Well, if this is coffee," replied the officer, "I'll take some tea; but if it is tea, I'll try a little coffee." Astonishment still sits on the face of that waiter.

Paradoxical.
Oh gentle reader, [illegible] as the confession may seem to [illegible] notwithstanding the risk we run of being summoned before the Commissioners of Insanity by reason of the acknowledgment, [illegible] to confess that we have at last [illegible] something in the News with which we fully and entirely agree. [illegible] further [illegible] somewhat lessen the alarm of our friends as to our sanity, that the proposition [illegible] is not one of any importance, but is contained in a [illegible] parent. It recommends that at the ensuing election there be two women chosen to serve on the Board of Education. [illegible] At least one half of school children are girls, all but six or seven of the sixty or seventy teachers are women, and the mothers are [illegible] more directly interested in the schools, at least brought into more direct contact with them than their fathers. There is work to be done in the Board and by Committees that is clearly men's work, such as the care of buildings, finance, supplies, etc. [illegible] there are other and more important [illegible] pertaining to the [illegible] of the schools in which [illegible] educated and intelligent women [illegible] are very materially [illegible] particularly adapted by nature for it. [illegible] the place [illegible] in educational matters should [illegible] acknowledged centre of learning [illegible] that we have an educated and [illegible] [illegible] simply because it is [illegible] by all means let us have [illegible] next Board of Education. [illegible] the women themselves are moving in the matter, and the TRIBUNE offers them [illegible] and heart.

Gas Fixtures.—John Spencer [illegible] that he has just received [illegible] fixtures of the latest patterns [illegible] and intends to sell at San Francisco prices. Plumbing and gas fitting at reasonable prices [illegible] Broadway [illegible]

The story was told our correspondent by a substantial citizen of Santa Clara, Mr. Morgan, who had been there with his family to examine advantages with a view to investing in land. The incident related was of so rare a character that our correspondent at once stored it away for use in his first letter, and in due time it appeared in our columns. The Attack on Butler.

Ben Butler, in setting himself up as the champion of the Civil Rights bill, has made himself a target for the unreconstructed Southern members of the House First it was McLane of Texas who called him a murderer, and now it is Brown of Kentucky who sets him up as a raw-head and-bloody bones In all this these parties display not only bad taste, but they evince a total want of tact All these acrid attacks on Butler, while they hurt not Butler, display an animus too much in consonance with the spirit of 1861 to please the people of the Republic. The Republicans have won their heaviest victories on the platform of loyalty to the Union, and disloyalty has been the source of many disastrous defeats to the Democracy But some how or other many of the Southern Democrats cannot see in the late political revolution anything but an endorsement of rebel opinions and believing this they air their disloyal sentiments on every possible occasion

The people do not care for Butler, nor do they uphold him in his general political course, but there was a time when the people fully endorsed his acts and that time was when he commanded the military post at New Orleans The almost unanimous opinion at that time was that he was the right man in the right place, and his conduct at that period gained him a favor with the Republic that his later political excesses have not yet entirely obliterated The general sentiment of the people is now as it was then While they were willing and anxious to protect every citizen in his full and complete rights, they demand from every citizen full and complete subjection to the laws —San Jose Mercury

—The six largest steamships in the world are the Great Eastern owned by the International Telegraph Construction and Maintenance Company, 671 feet long, 77 feet broad, the City of Peking, some months ago launched on the Delaware river for the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, 6,000 tons, 423 feet long, 48 feet broad the Liguria, of the Pacific Steam Navigation Company, 4,820 tons, 460 feet long, 45 feet broad the Brittanic, of the White Star Line, 4,700 tons, 15 feet broad, the City of Richmond, of the Inman Line, 1600 tons, 453½ feet long, 15 feet broad, and the Bothnia, of the Cunard Line, 4,500 tons 425 feet long, 12½ feet broad

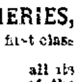

—Mr Spurgeon is credited with saying that he never had the ability to manage a small church They are like those canoes in the Thames—you must not sit this way or the other, or do this thing or that thing, lest you be upset His church is like a big steamboat, and he can walk here or there without danger of upsetting it, whilst steering the vessel and guiding his passengers' conduct from the bridge

PRIVATE MEDICAL AID!

DR. W. K. DOHERTY'S

PRIVATE

MEDICAL & SURGICAL INSTITUTE

(Founded in 1858)

No. 519 SACRAMENTO STREET,

Corner of Leidesdorff, a few doors below the What Cheer House Private entrance on Leidesdorff street San Francisco

Established expressly to afford the afflicted sound and scientific Medical Aid in the treatment and cure of all Private and Chronic Diseases, cases of secresy, and all Sexual Disorders.

TO THE AFFLICTED.

DR W K DOHERTY RETURNS HIS sincere thanks to his numerous patients for their patronage and would take this opportunity to remind them that he continues to consult at his Institute for the cure of chronic diseases of the Lungs Liver, Kidneys, Digestive and Genito-Urinary Organs and all Private Diseases. and he hopes that his long experience and successful practice will continue to insure him a share of public patronage By his practice of many years in Europe and the United States he is enabled to apply the most efficient and successful remedies against diseases of all kinds He cures without mercury, charges moderate, treats his patients in a correct and honorable way, and has references of unquestionable veracity from men of known respectability and high standing in society All parties consulting him, by letter or otherwise, will receive the best and gentlest treatment and implicit secresy

DR DOHERTY would respectfully call attention to the following certificates from two of his patients, who having fully recovered their health, desire to make known their remedial agent It will be seen that their statements are fully authenticated by a Notary Public The welfare of society imperiously demands their publicity, and they are given more to warn the unwary than to sound the praises of a physician, of whom hundreds of like cases can be cited, during a practice of more than twenty years

A Case of Gleet and Stricture.

READ THE FOLLOWING

DR DOHERTY—Dear Sir I feel my health so fully restored that, in common gratitude I believe I should make you some written acknowledgment for your valuable services — particularly so, as your fee was small for the work performed

I arrived in this city from the East about one year ago, and was then suffering from an old case of Gleet, complicated with Stricture Being a stranger in this city and believing those doctors who gave such positive assurances of success were necessarily the best (some of whom have a large number of titles), I placed myself in their charge and continued under their treatment until I had lost nearly all hope and a considerable sum of money I wish to say now that you are the sixth doctor I have employed and the only one that has ever done me any service I am entirely cured and my general health is better than it has been for years

In conclusion I would say to the many unfortunates who require medical advice if you doubt as to whom you should employ ask DR DOHERTY for my address, and call and see me (I keep store in this city) My experience may save you many dollars

I would add that in the early stage of my disease I used a large amount of the preparations advertised as an infallible cure for Gonorrhea, Gleet, etc, but never derived any benefit from them

I am Doctor very truly yours, L H

Seminal Weakness.

A Sworn to Certificate of a Most Remarkable Cure of SPERMATORRHEA.

A desire to benefit humanity and a feeling of gratitude to DR W K DOHERTY alone induces me to make this statement For many years I had been afflicted with that fearful disease known as Spermatorrhea but until 18?? experienced but little trouble or inconvenience In that year, however I had seminal weakness to a fearful extent which was soon followed by the most alarming symptoms, a weakness of the back and limbs pain in the head dimness of vision, nervousness and general debility My mind, too, was affected to such an extent as to seriously impair my memory my ideas were confused and spirits depressed I was averse to society had evil forebodings and self distrust and I was entirely unfitted for the duties of life From 18?? to the summer of 18?? I employed the very best medical talent I could find and spent several hundred dollars but in no instance obtained more than temporary relief I had about concluded that there was no relief for me in the world but reading DR DOHERTY'S advertisement I thought I would call and see him as he charged nothing for consultation I had an interview with the doctor at his office on Sacramento street and his fee for treatment was so reasonable I determined to try him although I did not expect much benefit from his treatment On the 9th of December last I placed myself under his care In one week I found myself very much improved and now after five weeks treatment I feel thoroughly cured of all my trouble and in the enjoyment of the best of health Hoping that my experience may be of benefit to others similarly afflicted, I subscribe myself JAMES JOHNSON

To Correspondents.

Patients (male or female) residing in any part of the country however, distant who may desire the opinion or advice of Dr Doherty in their respective cases and who think proper to submit a written statement of such, in preference to holding a personal interview are respectfully assured that their communications will be held most sacred The doctor is a regular graduate, and may be consulted with every confidence

If the case be fully and candidly described personal communication will be unnecessary as instructions for diet, regimen and the general treatment of the case itself (including the remedies), will be forwarded without delay, and in such a manner as to convey no idea of the purport of the letter or parcel so transmitted

Should your case require immediate attention, send ten dollars in coin (or that value in currency) by mail or Wells Fargo & Co's Express, and a package of medicines will be sent to your address with necessary instructions for use
